Where Are You Now

It's time to wake up
So, this is my time to save,
together we are facing what we never dared.

I never thought I'd miss you,
When you were there,
Kept holding on for something else
I was not afraid

*You're riding home
But memories still remain to me...*

Wandering all alone
Wondering what is wrong
Feeling cold all summer long
Wondering why you're gone

Oh... Wanna give it a try...?
And do you ever look ahead of you?

*You're riding home
But memories still remain to me...*

When we went down the streets of London,
I never let you down,
Just one more step and I won't know
And I won't know

Your time is over now
I said to myself
You gotta take your time
One more step and I won't know
And I won't know

And I...

*I don't want to leave
I hope you don't believe
That you'll be on your own now*

And I...

*I don't want to go
I hope you always know
I'm ready for the show*

Where are you now...?

*It's over now
I said to myself
You gotta face the facts
Just one more step and I won't know...
and I won't know...*

*I gotta take my time,
I gotta hurry up,
I gotta fall in love
But one more step and I won't know...
And I won't know...*

And I...

*I don't want to leave
I hope you don't believe
That you'll be on your own now*

And I...

*I don't want to go
I hope you always know
I'm ready for the show
Where are you now...?*
